

Name: _____

Read the story. Use the story to answer the questions.
Underline the text evidence.

Blowing Bubbles

Chaz loves to blow bubbles. He runs outside with his bottle of bubbles and starts to blow bubbles into the wind. They fly away and pop, pop, pop! One by one, the bubbles pop in the air. Chaz puts the wand back in the bottle but oh no! He's out of bubbles!

Chaz runs inside to look for more. He checks in the garage. He looks in his room. He even peeks under the bathroom sink. There are no more bubbles in the house! Chaz asks his dad for help.

"I think that was the last bottle of bubbles, Chaz," his dad says. "But, we can always make some homemade bubbles!" His dad gets the dish soap from the kitchen and squirts some in the empty bubble bottle. Then, he fills the bottle with water. His dad dips the wand into the homemade bubbles and blows the biggest soap bubble Chaz has ever seen! He cannot believe how easy it is to make your own bubbles!

1. What is the problem in the story?

- Chaz is out of bubbles.
- Chaz cannot find his dad.
- Dad blows the biggest bubble.

2. What is the solution in the story?

- Chaz buys more bubbles at the store.
- Dad makes homemade bubbles with dish soap and water.
- Chaz goes to the park instead.

Name: _____

Read the story. Use the story to answer the questions.
Underline the text evidence.

Catching Butterflies

Liz and Trey are catching butterflies at the park. They catch the butterflies with their nets. Liz has caught six butterflies and Trey has caught five. Liz is running to catch a pretty yellow butterfly when she trips and falls on her butterfly net. The net breaks. Liz looks at her broken net and starts to cry. Trey runs up to her and sees the broken net.

“Don’t cry, Liz,” Trey says. “We can still catch more butterflies.”

“I cannot catch butterflies with a broken net!” Liz says. Trey smiles. He comes up with a great idea

“We can share this net. We will take turns catching butterflies with mine!” Trey exclaims. Liz stops crying. That IS a great idea!

Trey and Liz take turns using Trey’s net. By the end of the day, they each have caught ten butterflies!

1. What is the problem in the story?

Liz catches ten butterflies.

Trey does not catch any butterflies.

Liz falls and breaks her net.

2. What is the solution in the story?

Trey catches more butterflies than Liz.

Liz decides to go home.

Trey and Liz take turns using Trey’s net.