River Rescue

6 Enid was an elephant. She lived
13 in the jungle with her friends. Her
19 jungle had tall green trees, cool
24 blue streams, and bright flowers.

30 Enid adored the jungle. The only
36 thing Enid loved more than the 43 jungle was reading. She read all the 49 time.

55 Her friends would say, “Enid!
62 You read too much. Come swim.”

68 But Enid would say, “I will swim
75 later. I enjoy reading my book.”

82 Every night, Enid read her favorite stories to her friends. Then 89 one of them would say, “Hearing stories isn’t fun! Let’s go play!”

96 One day, after a heavy rain, Enid was reading a story about a
103 beaver and his dam. Then she heard a cry for help.

110 “Help!” said a small, meek voice. It came from the river’s edge.

124 Enid said, “I know that voice! It is my friend, Mabel!”

138 Enid ran toward Mabel’s voice. She was surprised and shocked
145 by what she saw next. The usually calm, flat, clear water was 160 now dark and swirling. There were large waves. On the other
171 shore, tiny Mabel stood on the opposite side of the river.

Name _____

Harold had also come to help. He said, “Mabel was across the river picking fruit. The river quickly became deep and wide. It was like magic.”

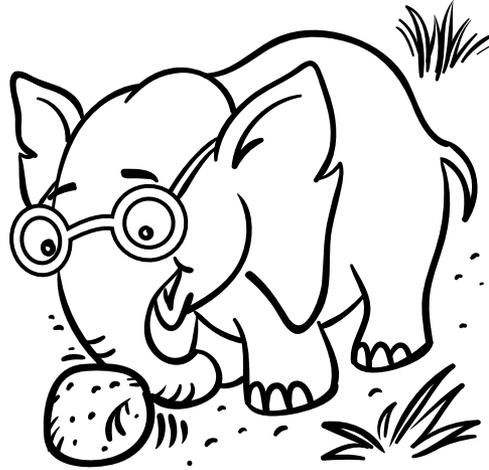

“It is not magic,” said Enid. “It is a flood. I read about it. If it rains too much, rivers can swell and get bigger.”

“Did you also read about how to help when rivers get too big?” asked Harold.

Enid thought of her book about the beaver’s dam. “Yes! We can build a dam like beavers do. A dam is like a wall that slows down the water. When it slows down, Mabel can cross back to us safely.”

Enid rolled round, gray stones toward the river. She was slowly making a wall in the water. Her friends began helping her, assisting Enid in making the dam. Soon the water slowed down. Mabel was able to cross back safely.

That night, Enid’s friends smiled as they listened to her stories.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. Traits are the ways a character behaves. What is one of Enid's traits? Circle the letter of your answer.

- a. Enid eats only bananas.
- b. Enid is very lazy.
- c. Enid likes sharing stories.

2. A character's actions make a story's events happen. How do Enid's actions help Mable? Circle the letter of your answer.

- a. Enid knows how to build a dam. The dam helps Mabel.
- b. Enid tells her friends to read stories about dams.
- c. Enid tells Mabel to read a story about red shoes.

3. Enid is the story's main character. What does she want?

Enid wants her friends _____

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to expression. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s opinion. This student wrote his or her opinion on whether or not the author gave enough information to reveal that it was Enid’s love of reading that made the story events happen.

Topic sentence	→	In “River Rescue,” I think the author does a good job showing how Enid’s love of reading saves the day.
Evidence	→	In the story, the author says that Enid loves to read. Her friend, Mabel, would rather play. Mabel does not think reading is important. One day, Mabel gets trapped in a flood. Enid reads how to help in a book. She is the only one who knows what to do. Enid is a
Concluding statement	→	hero! The author shows that because of Enid’s love of reading she was about to save her friend.

Write a paragraph about a story you read. Find text evidence to support your opinion of how the author uses the character’s actions and feelings to make story events happen.

Write a topic sentence: _____

Giving Thanks

Tom was happy. Tomorrow was 5 Thanksgiving. He grabbed his lunch
 10 from his kitchen table and went to 17 school. He sat next to Ana at lunchtime.
 25 She was a new student from India.

32 He asked her, “Are you ready for the 40 long weekend?”

42 “Of course!” she said. “But why do
 49 we get two days off?”

54 Tom was surprised. He said, “It’s Thanksgiving, of course!”

63 She said, “We don’t have Thanksgiving in India.”

71 Thanksgiving in America

74 Tom told Ana about Thanksgiving. He said, “We get to spend 85 time with family and friends. First, we have a big feast with 97 turkey, vegetables, and pie for dessert. After we eat, I go outside
 109 and play football with my brother and sister.”

117 Ana asked, “Why do you have this tradition?”

125 Tom said, “It reminds us to give thanks for all that we have.”

138 Thanksgiving in India

141 Ana said, “In my country we also give thanks.”

150 “Really?” Tom said. “How?”

154 She said, “I am from a place in India called Tamil Nadu. Each 167 year we have Pongal.”

Name _____

Tom asked, "What does Pongal mean?"

Ana said, "It is an Indian dish. During Pongal, food is cooked in pots until it boils and spills over. It's a symbol of good times."

"Wow," Tom said. "How do you celebrate?"

"First, we give thanks to the rain and sun for help with farming. We even thank the cattle," said Ana. "Then we throw away old things and wear new clothes. We eat food and spend time with family."

Tom smiled and said, "I thought the United States was the only country that had a holiday like Thanksgiving. I guess I was wrong!"

"Yes, there are many types of harvest fairs all over the world where people give thanks for food and crops," she said.

"I guess we all have a lot to be thankful for," he said.

Sharing traditions

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. Events in a story happen in sequence, or time order. In paragraph six, what is the first thing that Tom does on Thanksgiving?
 - a. He talks to Ana.
 - b. He has a big feast.
 - c. He plays football.

2. What is the second thing Tom does on Thanksgiving?
 - a. He plays football.
 - b. He talks to Ana.
 - c. He has a big feast.

3. In paragraph 15, what is the first thing Ana does on Pongal?
 - a. throws away old things
 - b. wears new clothes
 - c. gives thanks

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to phrasing. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

A Family Tradition

My mother and I were visiting my grandma. My mother said, “We have a tradition in the Philippines, Jomar. This is how you say ‘hello’ or ‘good-bye’ to your elders. Take their right hand and touch it to your forehead. This tradition is called Mano Po. It is a sign of respect.”

So I touched grandmother’s hand to my forehead. “Mano Po, Grandma!” I said.

Answer the questions about the text.

1. How do you know this text is realistic fiction?

2. What is an example of dialogue, or actual words, that a character speaks?

3. What does the dialogue add to the text?

4. What does the illustration add to the text?

Name _____

Look at this example of context clues in the sentence below. The underlined words explain what migrate means.

Most birds like to migrate, moving from one place to another, once a year to the South where it is warmer.

Read each sentence below. Study the underlined context clues to help you understand the meaning of each word in bold. Then circle the letter of the best definition for each word.

1. He grabbed his lunch from his kitchen table and went to school.
 a. left behind b. hid c. took

2. “First, we have a big feast with turkey, vegetables, and pie for dessert.”
 a. meal b. meeting c. parade

3. “During Pongal, food is cooked in pots until it boils and spills over.”
 a. freezes b. gets hot and bubbles c. sits still

4. “Yes, there are many types of harvest fairs all over the world where people give thanks for food and crops,” she said.
 a. kinds b. foods c. parties

Name _____

The vowels e, o, and u sometimes stand for short vowel sounds.

Short e in fed

Short o in top

Short u in cut

A. Read each word pair. Circle the word that has the correct vowel sound. The first one has been done for you.

1. short e fed feed

2. short o rope rock

3. short u tug tune

4. short e meets mess

5. short o pole pond

For many base words, adding -s, -ed, and -ing does not change the base word's spelling. For most base words that end with a vowel and a consonant, double the final consonant before adding -ed and -ing.

B. Write a word from the word box to show the correct -s, -ed, or -ing form. Not all words will be used. The first one has been done for you.

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s ideas. This student wrote about how the author uses what Tom and Ana do and say to create the plot, or events, in the story.

Topic sentence → In “Giving Thanks,” the author uses what Tom and Ana do and say to create the plot of the story.

Evidence → At the beginning, Tom asks Ana if she knows what Thanksgiving is. When Ana says no, he tells her all about his Thanksgiving. Then, in the middle of the story, Ana talks about one of her family’s traditions. At the end both agree that being thankful can mean celebrating in different ways.

Concluding statement → The author created a beginning, middle, and end of the story by using what Tom and Ana said and did.

Write a paragraph about a story you read. Find text evidence to show how the author uses what the characters say and do to create the plot, or events, in the story. Use text evidence to support your ideas.

Write a topic sentence: _____

End with a concluding statement: _____

Name _____

A. Read the draft model. Use the questions that follow the draft to help you think about what descriptive details you can add.

Draft Model

We make dinner for the New Year. Every person gets to make something for the meal. We all help each other. Then we wait until midnight to begin our big family dinner.

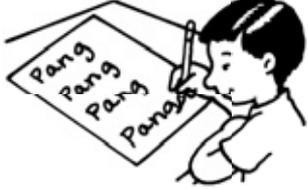

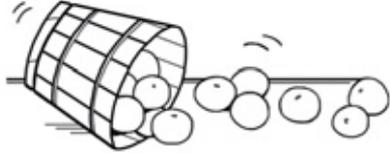

1. Who is making the dinner?
2. What descriptive details would help the reader visualize the people in the story?
3. In what ways do the people help each other?
4. What descriptive details could provide more information about the dinner?

B. Now revise the draft by adding descriptive details that help the readers learn more about the people making dinner.

Joseph Bruchac

Growing Up Near Mountains

4 Joseph Bruchac grew up in 9 the mountains in New York. He 15 lived with his grandmother and 20 grandfather. His grandfather
23 showed Joseph how to walk through 29 the woods very softly. He showed 35 Joseph how to catch fish. Joseph
41 liked his grandfather very much.

46 Joseph's grandparents owned a
50 store. Joseph worked at the store a
57 lot. Joseph sometimes made mistakes.

62 His grandfather never yelled at Joseph. Instead, they talked about 72 the mistake. Joseph learned how to do better the next time.

83 As a child, Joseph read a lot. He liked books about animals
95 and he liked reading poetry. Joseph also liked to write. He even 107 wrote some poems!

110 Abenaki Storyteller

112 Joseph's grandfather was an Abenaki Native American. When 120 he grew up, Joseph liked to visit Native Americans. He liked to 132 hear their stories. The stories were fun. They also taught great 143 lessons about life. Joseph wrote down the stories. He read the 154 stories to his children. Joseph soon began to write children's 164 books for everyone. His books told the stories of the Abenaki.

Name _____

Helping Others

Joseph's teacher once said, "Whatever you want to do in life, you should do it." Joseph was inspired. He wanted to write. He also wanted to help other people. That is what his stories did. Joseph's stories taught children to be kind. His stories taught children to care for the Earth. Joseph went to schools everywhere. He read his stories to many children.

Stories can teach great lessons about life.

Today, Joseph still lives in the same hometown where he grew up. He spends time in his garden. Joseph says, "I love being a writer and storyteller." He still walks through the woods. He walks through the mountains. He gets ideas for brand-new stories every day.

Keith Little, Navajo Code Talker

I was a soldier during World War II. I fought battles on islands in the Pacific Ocean. I was one of the Navajo code talkers. The code talkers sent messages to other American soldiers. We used Navajo, a Native American language. The enemy couldn't read our messages. Our work helped the United States win the war. When the war ended, I began to teach people about Navajo language and culture.

Victor Ochoa's New Idea

5 Inventors are people who make
 11 new things. Victor Ochoa was an 18 inventor. One thing he made was a
 25 flying machine. It was one of the 30 first airplanes ever made. Victor
 37 watched birds fly. He used what he learned about flying to build a plane.

flickr RF/Getty Images

44 Many Jobs

46 Victor was born long ago in Mexico, but grew up in Texas. He 59 had many jobs. One job was for a newspaper. He wrote stories
 71 for the paper. He even started two new newspapers of his own!
 83 Sometimes the jobs were hard, but Victor never gave up.

93 A New Plane

96 Victor's mind was a motor that did not turn off. He was always 109 thinking of new ways to make life better. In 1908, he was still 122 thinking about how birds fly. He wondered how he could fly too.
 134 He began to work on a plane that could fly like a bird.

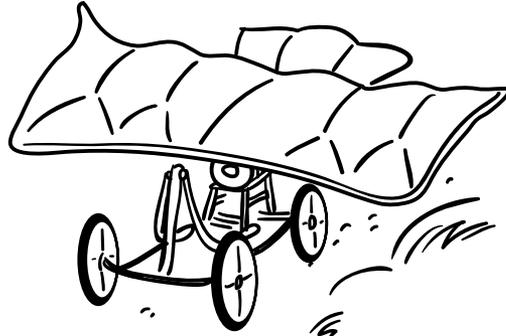

147 Victor's plane was made of two bicycles, side by side. There
 158 was a small motor in the middle, between the bikes. The back 170 of the plane looked like a bird's tail. The wings were made of 183 canvas, a tough cloth. He put the cloth on strong, metal pipes
 195 shaped like wings. The wings of his plane folded, like a bird's 207 wings. He could put his plane in a small shed or barn.

Name _____

Victor worked very hard to make his plane work. He worked on it for over twenty years. He wrote the Navy a letter about his invention. In the letter, he told them why his plane was a good idea. But no one knows if his plane ever flew.

Other New Ideas

Victor did not stop. Making new things from new ideas was the blood that pumped through his body. He made new tools. Some are still used today. He made a pen that held its own ink.

Victor Ochoa's plane was made of two bicycles.

Never Give Up

Victor was a spinning top. He kept going and going. He was always working. His ideas did not always work. But Victor Ochoa never stopped trying. That was the important thing.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. In the third paragraph, what does the text say caused Victor to think of new inventions?

Building a Landmark

12 In Ohio, mounds of earth are built in the land. These mounds
 24 have been there a long time. The mounds act as landmarks, or 29 sites. They help us learn
 32 about the past.

35 Native American tribes
 39 made these mounds. There
 44 are over 70 mounds left.
 48 One is called Serpent
 54 Mound. It is 1,370 feet long.
 60 It looks like a big snake.

Native Americans built mounds that act as landmark.

64 Objects from other tribes
 68 are in Serpent Mound.
 77 Researchers study the mounds. They think many tribes might 82 have shared this one mound.

85 The mounds are many shapes. Miamisburg Mound looks like
 91 a cone. It is the largest cone mound. There are 116 steps. People
 104 can climb to the top.

109 How were the mounds made? Some people used clam shells to 120 dig. They also used sticks. They carried dirt in baskets. They used 132 the dirt to build the mounds. The baskets weighed 40 pounds. That 144 is hard work.

147 Why did these people build mounds? Some people think the 157 mounds were a calendar. Others think tribes met each other at the 169 mounds. The Newark Earthworks mounds might have been used to 179 study the stars. No one is sure how the mounds were used.

Name _____

People and cultures leave stories behind. Some stories are in books. Some are in art. In Ohio, people left mounds. There are still many questions about the mounds. But these landmarks are helpful. They help us learn about the tribes that lived here long ago.

Social and Sacred Places

Many people study the mounds. They think they were used for special events. Today, you can visit them. You can learn more of the stories told by the mounds.

Why People and Birds Are Friends

Two brothers went hunting in a 6 large jungle. It was very easy to 13 feel small in the jungle, and they 20 were soon lost. They tried to find
 27 their way home for days. Each day
 34 they stopped when it got dark.

The brothers knew how to camp
 46 in the jungle. The older brother
 52 went to find firewood, while the 58 younger brother went to find food
 64 and water. The younger brother
 69 looked for a very long time. After a while, he was tired and sat
 83 down to rest.

The young boy noticed a bird in a tree above him. He watched
 99 it flap its wings. Then he heard a voice coming from the trees.

112 “I know where your parents are! I know where your parents
 123 are!” said the voice.

127 The boy looked around. He was confused because he did not 138 know who was talking. He heard the words again. Suddenly, he 149 understood that the bird was talking to him!

157 The young boy stared at the bird. He said, “Can you really help
 170 my brother and me get home?” The bird said, “I am an old bird. I
 185 can take you to your village. I only ask that you find three insects
 199 for me to eat. That will give me the strength to guide you home.”

Name _____

The young boy agreed to feed the bird. He ran back to the camp to find his brother and bring him to the bird.

The bird repeated its offer to the older boy. The boys found three insects. The bird swallowed them easily. One, two, three! “We will leave in the morning,” she said.

The next morning, the boys followed the bird home to their village. The boys’ parents were very happy to see them. They had been sad since the boys left. The family promised that they would always feed hungry birds. And that is why birds sing to humans, and humans feed birds.

A Dream to the West

Lan was eight years old in 1849.
 7 Life in China was not easy for Lan's
 15 family. Lan's father, Yao, had left
 21 for America. This is where people
 27 were getting rich.

The Golden Mountain

30
 33 Gold was found in California in 39 1848. The Gold Rush swept across
 45 America like a wildfire. People
 50 from many countries moved to the 56 area called "Gold Mountain."

Families worked hard to make a new life together.

A New Life

60
 63 Lan and her mother joined Yao after a few months. Lan was as 76 white as a ghost on the boat trip. "I am scared," she said. "I only 91 know my family in China. I do not even speak English."

102 "We will be fine," said her mom. "Your father will 112 welcome us."

114 "What about our family in China?" Lan asked her father when 125 they arrived. He said, "Maybe one day they can join us."

136 Yao lived in a village with other Chinese people. Lan met
 147 Yao's friend, Chen. Chen had a daughter named Li. Li took Lan
 159 around the village.

Name _____

“This is where we live and eat,”

Li said

Lan inspected the area. “I did not know so many Chinese people lived here. They even speak Chinese!”

Yao said, “Yes, this is a nice place to live.”

Lan asked her father to show her where he worked.

“I stopped working as a miner.” he said. “We were not finding any gold. I now work as a shoemaker.”

Lan knew life would not be the same, but she was hopeful when she looked around. The future was as open as the land.

Lan said, “I am just happy we are together.”

The discovery of gold gave hope to many immigrants.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage. Answer the questions below.

1. Details tell what the characters do and say. Details help you to find the theme. What is one important detail about Lan's family in paragraph 3? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. Lan and her mother are joining Yao in America.
- b. Lan and her mother are not leaving China.
- c. Lan and her mother get seasick.

2. What is one important detail about Yao under the heading A New Life? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. He misses China.
- b. He has become rich working in a gold mine.
- c. He works as a shoemaker, not in a gold mine as planned.

3. The theme of a story is the author's message, or what he or she is trying to say. What is the theme of the passage? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. Looking for wealth in another country is never a good idea.
- b. Things in life don't always go as planned, but it's still possible to make a fresh start.
- c. Family is more important than money.

48 Speak Your Mind

51 Actions can speak louder than
56 words. In 1969, America was at war.
63 Some students did not like the war, so they wore black armbands.
75 The bands showed they did not like the war.

84 Some people did not agree with the armbands. So, the students
95 went to court. Their case was called Tinker v. Des Moines. The 107 court ruled that the students had a right to wear the bands to 120 school. They could wear them even if others disagreed.

129 Are There Limits?

132 In America, people are given freedom of speech, but sometimes 142 there are exceptions to this law.

148 Your actions are unprotected by the Constitution when what 157 you do or say is unsafe. You are not allowed to shout “Fire!” when 171 there is not a fire. This only causes trouble. People can get hurt.
184 The law will not let free speech hurt others.

The Sound of Elephants

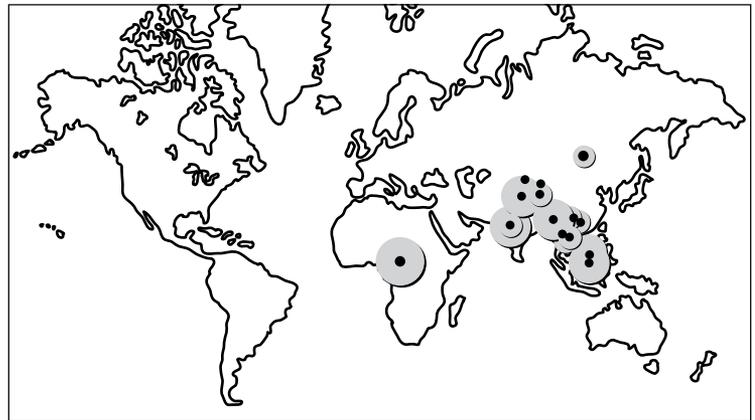

A Love of Sounds

4 Katy Payne enjoys listening to many sounds. Animal sounds
13 are her favorite.

16 The first sounds Katy studied were the wonderful noises made
26 by whales. They sound like strange music. Some people call them
37 “whale songs.” Katy then moved on to study the sound of elephants.

49 Hidden Sounds

51 Katy watched
53 and listened to 56 the elephants at 59 the zoo. They
62 made sounds
64 like trumpets.
66 These sounds
68 made Katy think
71 of whale songs.

Elephants live in the wild in Africa and Asia.

74 She knew that
77 whales sometimes made sounds that she could not hear. “What 87 if elephants make hidden sounds?” Katy thought. She wanted to 97 find out.

99 Katy taped the sounds made by elephants. She used a computer
110 to make pictures of the sounds. The pictures showed sounds that 121 Katy could not hear. Just like whales, the elephants were making 132 hidden sounds! Katy had found something special.

Name _____

Helping by Hearing

Katy knew that elephants and people did not always get along. People sometimes got angry when elephants ate their crops. In other places, careless people built homes on land used by elephants. It was hard for these elephants to live. Katy was worried. She wanted to help.

Katy started a project with some friends. She let other people listen to the elephant sounds. She taught people about their hidden sounds. This helped people better understand the elephants. It also made them want to help elephants. And it is all because of good people like Katy Payne!

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s ideas. This student wrote about how the author’s choice of words helps us understand what the narrator thinks about learning to read.

Topic sentence	→	In “Learning the Read,” the author chooses words that help us understand what the narrator thinks about learning to read. The narrator uses the words
Evidence	→	“letter soup” to describe reading. When I think about letter soup, I think about letters floating all over the place in no order. Then the narrator learns to read and says that the “letters let themselves be led into lines.” That means the letters are now words. I read that reading brings the whole world into the narrator’s open hands. The author chooses

How Zebras Got Their Stripes

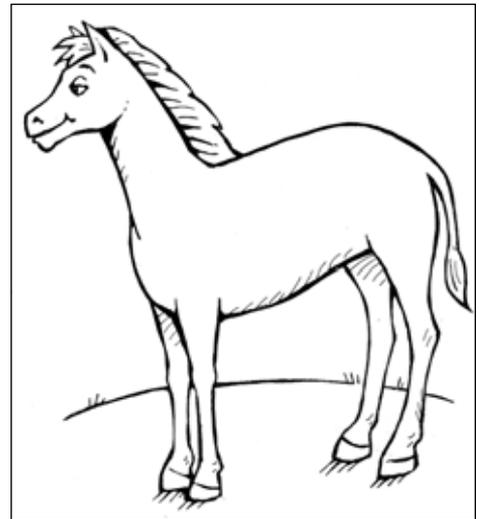

11 This story happened a long time ago in Africa. Baboon was 24 very fierce. He was so mean that he told all the other animals 36 that the land belonged to him. Baboon said that only he was allowed to drink from the river.

42 The animals were upset. They needed water to survive. They 52 were sad, and also afraid of Baboon. He had a big head with 65 thick eyebrows and long, sharp teeth. He often showed his teeth
 76 to scare the other animals. They did not know what to do.

88 At this time, zebras had all white
 95 coats. Young Zebra was brave.
 100 He was fearless and handsome in 106 his white coat. Zebra said, "I am
 113 not afraid of Baboon." So Zebra
 119 challenged Baboon to a brawl.
 124 Baboon laughed. He rarely lost a
 130 fight.

131 They agreed that the loser of the 138 fight would go live on the barren
 145 hill. The empty hill was not a nice
 153 place to live.

156 The next day, Zebra met Baboon by the river. Baboon had built
 168 a bonfire there. Zebra's white coat glowed. It looked like Zebra
 179 had a light inside his body. All of the animals watched the fight.

Name _____

Both animals leaped and scratched. Zebra jumped at Baboon, but Baboon ducked. Zebra fell into the bonfire and the fire began to burn Zebra. Baboon was busy laughing. He did not see Zebra running out of the fire, straight at him.

Zebra kicked Baboon as hard as he could. Baboon flew over the river and onto the empty hill. He was not injured. But his pride was hurt. He had lost. The animals could drink from the river.

Zebra won, but the fire had burned long black stripes on his white coat. After that, all zebras had black stripes. Their stripes were a symbol. They make zebras feel proud. They are a reminder of how Zebra won the river and kept water free for all animals.

How Bear Lost His Tail

Long ago, Bear had a long, shiny tail. He was proud of it. “My tail is the best in the forest!” he bragged.

Fox decided to stop Bear’s bragging. Fox went to a frozen lake and sat by a hole in the ice. He waited until he heard Bear coming. Then Fox pretended to say to himself, “My tail isn’t shiny enough to catch any fish.” Then he hid behind a tree.

“My shiny tail could catch the fish!” Bear thought. He dipped his tail into the icy water. He fell asleep. He slept so long his tail froze. Then Fox crept up behind Bear. He shouted, “Bear! A fish is biting your tail!” Bear jumped up, and his frozen tail broke off.

Answer the questions about the text.

A Letter to Helen Keller

Dear Ms. Keller,

3 My name is Amelia Grant. I live
10 in Nome, Texas. My papa runs an 17 oil factory there. When I was eight,
24 one of the oil wells blew up. I was 33 very close to it. Because of this,
40 I lost my hearing.

44 Now I am 12, and a lot has
52 changed. For one, I cannot hear
58 music or my mother sing. I feel
65 music instead of hearing it.

70 Also, I have to go to a new
78 school, which is far away. It is called 86 Texas School for the Deaf. It is a
94 long stretch from Nome.

98 I read a book you wrote called The Story of My Life. You tell
112 how you made loud noises and got mad when people did not 124 understand you. Your mom and dad were frustrated by the way
135 you acted. You must have driven your parents up the wall!

146 I also read about your teacher, Ms. Sullivan. She taught you
157 about words. Because of Ms. Sullivan, you can read and write.

Helen Keller could not see or hear, but she did not let that stop her from learning and doing many things.

Name _____

Just like you, I ask lots of questions to learn. I am learning more now than I ever did when I could hear. My mom always says that “every cloud has a silver lining.” Maybe she is right. Even when something really bad happens, a good thing can come from it.

Back in Nome, my best friend is Anna Bailey. When I lost my hearing, I thought Anna might not be my friend. But I was wrong. Anna stayed friends with me, even though I could not hear. Anna said, “It might take some time, but you will learn to live a good life.” Anna was right. She really made me feel better.

You have inspired me with your life and your book. Even though you are deaf and blind, you can do almost anything! You even went to college. You are a hero to me. That is why I am writing to you. I hope that one day I can visit you, and we can learn more about each other.

Sincerely,
Amelia Grant

Seeing Red

8 Have you seen stars in the sky at 15 night? You might have even seen a 21 planet, like Mars. Scientists want to learn more about Mars.

25 Fourth Place

27 Mars is the fourth planet from 33 the sun. Mars is red in color. That's 41 why it is called the Red Planet. It
49 is smaller and colder than Earth.
55 Water cannot be a liquid there.
61 It can only be frozen.

66 Scientists sent machines, called rovers, to Mars. The first rover
76 landed on Mars in 1997. It sent pictures of Mars back to Earth.
89 This was useful information. The rovers have helped people learn
99 more about the Red Planet.

104 Red Planet Plants

107 The surface of Mars is cold and rocky. There is no life there.
120 Yet, research has helped us learn about the climate on Mars a
132 long time ago. It does not seem likely, but Mars was once warm
145 and wet. The climate was a lot like the climate of Earth today.

Mars is farther from the sun than Earth is.

Name _____

157 Now, scientists want to send people to Mars. Mars is very far 162 away from Earth. It would 168 take nearly a year and a
 173 half to travel to Mars
 176 and back. Astronauts
 182 would need a lot of food
 188 and water for the long trip.

Scientists have a solution. They want to make special plants. These plants would be able to survive on icy Mars. The plants could be carefully grown in a greenhouse on Mars. They would provide food for the astronauts on the trip.

Growing food on Mars means people could stay longer. How is this helpful? The longer people are able to stay on Mars, the more they can learn about the planet. They might truly unlock the secrets of Mars.

Rovers like this one conduct science experiments on Mars.

Put to the Test

Researchers tested a group of frogs. The frogs were placed on a flat base that moved. Dust was put on the frogs' feet. At first, the frogs lost their foothold. They could not get it back if they did not move. Then the frogs were allowed to move their feet. That is when they were able to get back their grip.

How It Works

Frogs' feet secrete mucus. This secretion comes out with every step the frogs take. The old mucus with the dust and dirt comes off, and the new mucus helps the frogs' feet stick. This cleans the frogs' feet.

Studying frogs' feet is just one way that nature can lead us to new ideas. No one knows what is coming next. What is your prediction?

The mucus on the bottom of a frog's foot renews after every step, keeping the foot clean and sticky.

Mississippi Steamboats

How did people move goods before trucks and planes?
 9 Steamboats carried things on the Mississippi River.

16 What Is a Steamboat?

20 A steamboat is a boat powered by steam. First, water is heated.
 32 Then, the water boils and turns to steam. The steam creates a 44 force. This turns a giant wheel. The wheel pushes the steamboat
 55 along the river.

58 Shreve Adapts the Steamboat

62 John Fitch made the first
 67 successful steamboat. But, the 71 Mississippi was too shallow for it
 77 to float. This problem was fixable.
 83 Henry Shreve made changes to
 88 adapt the boat for shallow water.
 94 He also added a top deck. All
 101 Mississippi steamboats used
 104 Shreve's model.

Long ago, steamboats were used to move goods and people up and down the Mississippi River.

Name _____

The Golden Age of Steamboats

Shreve also added a high-pressure steam engine. This made the steamboat faster. People used them more. In 1834 about two hundred steamboats traveled the river. Twenty years later, there were about 1,000.

The steamboat was the best way to travel the Mississippi.

Currier & Ives (American printing firm, 1834–1907)/
Historicus, Inc./Library of Congress Prints and Photographs Division [LC-USZC2-2523]

The End of an Era

Steamboats filled the Mississippi River for fifty years. Then the railroad came along. Trains were much faster.

Trains became the most acceptable way to travel. It was the end of the steamboat era. By 1920 steamboats were mostly gone.

“Packet”-style steamboats were the most common form of transportation on the Mississippi in the 19th century.

Harder Than It Looks

Mark Twain wrote a book called Life on the Mississippi. It was about his days as a steamboat captain. Twain made steamboat travel sound nice. But it was not always that way. Life on a steamboat could be dangerous. There was a lot of work to do. The captain had to be careful. On a moonless night, it was hard to see!

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. Reread the second paragraph. What happens first in a steam engine?

2. What happens after water is heated in a steam engine?

3. In 1834 there were two hundred steamboats on the Mississippi River. What happened twenty years later?

The End of the Pony Express

In 1860 people in the United States worried that there would be a war. They needed to send messages across the country quickly. The fastest way to do this was with the Pony Express. The Pony Express was a group of men who rode their horses along a 2,000-mile trail. When one rider finished his part of the trail, he gave a mail bag to the next rider. But on October 24, 1861, workers completed a telegraph wire across the country. No one needed the Pony Express anymore.

How Telegraphs Work

Tetra Images/Corbis

A telegraph operator taps out a message in Morse code. Morse code uses dashes and dots instead of letters. This message is sent through a wire. Seconds later, the person on the other end hears the message.

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer's ideas. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that explains how the author showed sequence.

Topic sentence	→	In Mississippi Steamboats, the author uses sequence to explain how steamboats became a popular way of carrying goods down the Mississippi River and later faded into history.
Evidence	→	The author explains how John Fitch improved the steamboat and how they were used more and more as they got faster. Then the author explains how the railroad, which was even faster, brought the steamboat era to an end.
Concluding statement	→	By using sequence, the author explains the important role steamboats played in our history.

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Explain how the author showed sequence. Cite evidence from the text. Remember to describe the connections between sentences and paragraphs in a text that relate to sequence, and to support your explanation with details.

Write a topic sentence: _____

Cite evidence from the text: _____

End with a concluding statement: _____

The Turtle and the Box of Riches

6 Long ago there was a young
11 boy who was a fisherman's
17 helper. One day, he saw a
20 group of children teasing a
24 small turtle.

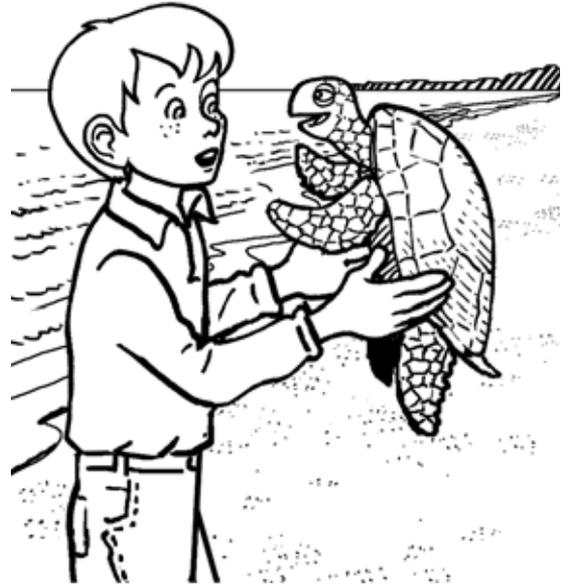

28 "Leave that turtle alone!"
33 he shouted at the children,
39 who ran away. Then, to his
43 surprise, the turtle said,
45 "Thank you."

49 "You can talk?" the boy
53 asked the turtle.

61 "Yes," the turtle said. "I am a very powerful turtle. Your act
65 was an inspiration. I will reward your kindness. Go to sleep.
76 When you wake up, you will be in a grand place." Then he 89 swam away.

91 That night the boy went to bed in disbelief. Yet the next
103 morning he woke up in a large palace.

111 The turtle was there. "Welcome to our home under the 121 sea." Fish swam outside the palace's gold walls. Many turtles
131 lived there.

Name _____

The underwater palace was wonderful. But as night came, the boy asked to return home.

“Thank you so much,” he said. “I have much admiration for your home, but I must go back. I work on a fishing boat each day.”

“Very well,” the turtle said. “Before you go, take this box.”

The turtle handed the boy a box with two drawers and a key.

The turtle said, “When you are home, use this key to open either one of the drawers. But do not ever open the other drawer.”

The boy promised and fell asleep. When he woke up, he was back in his bed. The box sat on the dresser next to him. He took the key and opened the top drawer. It was filled with gold and jewels! The boy was rich. He would never have to work again.

The box had one key and two drawers.

The boy was filled with appreciation, but he was curious. He wondered what was in the second drawer. Would there be more riches? He opened the second drawer, but it was empty. Quickly he opened the first drawer again. The gold and jewels had turned to dust. No longer rich, he was just a fisherman’s helper again.

Kyoto Frog and Osaka Frog

Two frogs lived in Japan. One lived in a city called Kyoto. The other lived in a city called Osaka. One day, the two frogs went out to see their country. Kyoto Frog went to Osaka and Osaka Frog went to Kyoto. They met each other halfway between Osaka and Kyoto. Both were very tired after walking so far. They did not know if they could finish their trips. Then Osaka Frog had an idea.

“If we help each other stand up tall, we can see the towns we want to visit. Then we will know if we want to keep walking,” Osaka Frog said. So each frog faced the town he wanted to see. Then the frogs helped each other stand up on their back legs. But frogs’ eyes are on the backs of their heads. They were looking at their homes!

“Kyoto looks just like Osaka!” said Osaka Frog.

“And Osaka looks just like Kyoto!” said Kyoto Frog.

The frogs did not want to visit towns that looked just like their homes. So they turned around and went back. They never found out that Kyoto and Osaka were very different.

Painting From Memory

13 I lived in Damyang, South Korea, until last year. To me, it is 26 impossible to find a place more lovely. It is known for its bamboo
 40 forests. I used to paint pictures of the forests. Now I live in New 44 York with my mother.

44 Before we moved she said,
 49 “Bae, you will like New York.”

55 I was unsure. I said, “I will 62 miss home.”

64 “Nonsense,” she said. “You
 68 will like it. You should bring 74 your paintings with you. They 79 will help you feel at home.”

85 New York was not easy at 91 first. I had no friends. I spoke
 98 imperfect English. My paintings
 102 helped me feel better though.

107 Last month, an old woman moved into the apartment next to 118 us. She was kind but felt unhappy. Her name was Varvara.

129 Varvara had just moved from Vyborg, Russia. Her daughter
 138 lived in New York. Still, she was sad to leave her home in Russia.

152 Varvara said, “I am so homesick and it is unbearable.”
 162 I understood how Varvara was feeling.

168 The next day, when I came home from school, there was an 180 ambulance outside. I asked my mother about it.

I used to paint pictures of the forests.

Name _____

She said, “Varvara has become ill because she misses her home so much. I hope she can get used to living here.”

I had to help Varvara. My paintings of home helped me to remember my home and the people I missed. Varvara didn’t have any paintings of her home. Unless...

The next week, Varvara came back. I cracked open our front door to peek out and see her. She gasped when she saw what I had left by her door: a painting of her home in Vyborg. She smiled and looked happy.

I knew that a painting of her home in Russia made Varvara feel better, just as my paintings of Damyang made me feel better.

New York was not easy at first. My paintings helped me feel better though.

Adaptations: Grizzly and Polar Bears

Adaptations, or special ways
 4 their bodies are made, help
 9 bears in many ways. Thick fur,
 15 claws, and strong muscles are 20 used for survival. Fur can keep 26 bears warm. Claws and strong
 31 muscles help them to catch food
 37 and raise their offspring, or 42 babies. We will learn more about
 48 two kinds of bears, grizzly bears
 54 and polar bears.

A grizzly bear (top) and a polar bear (bottom).

57 Similarities

58 In many ways, grizzly bears and polar bears are the same.
 69 They are both very large. They can weigh more than 1,500
 80 pounds. Both have claws that do not retract. This means bears
 91 cannot pull their claws in. Bears can stand on their hind, or back, 104 legs. They look a lot like people when they do this! And, all
 117 bears have round ears.

Name _____

Differences

Polar bears live far north inside the Arctic Circle. They have adapted to the cold weather and icy land there. Polar bears have white fur that blends in with the ice and snow. They can sneak up on prey without being seen. They also have a layer of blubber, or fat. It is over four inches thick. This helps keep them warm, even in water that is barely above freezing. They also have fur on the bottoms of their paws. This keeps their feet warm on the ice and snow.

Grizzly bears live in North America. It is not as cold here. They have brown fur. It helps them blend in with the dirt and rocks in their environment, or where they live. Unlike polar bears, who only eat meat, grizzly bears will eat anything. Their claws are longer than a polar bear's. Grizzly bears use their claws to catch fish. They use them to dig in the ground for food, such as bugs and roots. Grizzlies also have a large hump of muscle over their shoulders. It helps them run quickly. They can chase down prey.

Bears have adapted to where they live. Their special features make each type of bear unique.

How Monarch Butterflies Migrate

Monarch butterflies live all over the United States. When it gets cold in the fall they fly south. Some fly all the way from Canada to Mexico. Scientists are not sure how they make this long trip. However, they may have found a clue. Monarchs have small magnetic pieces of metal in their bodies. They may use this metal like a compass. The metal helps them feel which way is south.

Monarch butterflies west of the Rocky Mountains fly south to California. Those east of the Rocky Mountains fly south to Mexico.

Answer the questions about the text.

1. Expository text tells about a topic. What topic is this text about?

2. What text feature shows you where monarch butterflies fly to?

3. What text feature tells you more about the map?

4. What does the metal in monarch butterflies help them do?

Sentence clues are words or phrases in a sentence that help you figure out the meaning of an unfamiliar word. Look at the following example:

It is easiest for wolves to survive, or continue to live, when they are in the wild.

The underlined sentence clue tells you that survive means “continue to live.”

Read each passage below. Underline the sentence clues that help you figure out the meaning of each word in bold. On the line, write the meaning of the word in bold.

1. Adaptations, or special ways their bodies are made, help bears in many ways.

2. Claws and strong muscles help them to catch food and raise their offspring, or babies.

3. Bears can stand on their hind, or back, legs.

4. They also have a layer of blubber, or fat.

5. It helps them blend in with the dirt and rocks in their environment, or where they live.

Name _____

The vowel sound /ô/ can be spelled in several different ways:

aw as in straw

au as in haul

alt as in salt

alk as in walk

all as in ball

ough as in bought

A. Read each pair of words. Circle the word that has the vowel sound /ô/. The first one has been done for you.

1. (raw) cow

2. bowl hall

3. talk look

4. howl caused

5. brought both

Many English words have Greek and Latin roots. These roots give clues to the word's meaning. The Greek root graph means "write." The Latin root aud means "hear or listen."

B. Read each sentence. Circle the word that has a Greek or Latin root. The first one has been done for you.

1. There was a great concert in the (auditorium).

2. The baseball star signed his autograph.

3. The audience cheered at the end of the show.

4. This graphic novel has amazing pictures.

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer's opinion. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that supports his or her opinion about the author's use of text features.

Topic sentence	→	In Adaptations: Grizzly and Polar Bears , the author uses text features to help compare and contrast these two types of bears.
Evidence	→	The author uses an illustration and a caption to compare and contrast the size of polar bears and grizzly bears. This information supports the author's statement that the bears are very large animals.
Concluding statement	→	By showing me the size of the bears in relation to the size of a person, the author helps me to visualize the size difference between these amazing animals.

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Share your opinion about how the author uses text features. Cite evidence from the text. Remember to support your opinion with reasons, and to use main and helping verbs correctly.

Write a topic sentence: _____

Cite evidence from the text: _____

End with a concluding statement: _____

History of Human Flight

Wanting to Fly Like Birds

5 Humans have always wanted to fly. They even tried to copy
16 birds by putting wings on their arms. But there was a problem.
28 The wings did not work because birds and humans do not have 40 the same kind of muscles.

45 The first big step for human flight was 53 the kite. Some kites were used for fun.
61 Others were used to test the weather.
68 But kites could not carry people. For 75 that, people made balloons and gliders.

Library of Congress Prints and Photographs
Division [LC-USZ62-56632]

In this photo from 1905, a hot air balloon flies over a lake in Oregon.

81 Hot Air Balloons

84 The first hot air balloon was a silk bag.
92 It was filled with smoke. This made the 99 balloon lighter than the air. Because of this,
111 the bag rose into the sky. People could ride in this kind of balloon.

123 Gliders

124 The next big step in human flight was the glider. A glider does 137 not float. It falls to earth. It falls slowly, so it can stay in the air a 154 long time. People can fly gliders where they want to go.

165 Some people made gliders better. George Cayley added a tail.
175 It made the glider more stable and easier to fly. Otto Lilienthal
187 made a glider that could go far. Sam Langley added an engine.

Name _____

Really Flying

A glider would allow people to fly, but it would not let them go far. Octave Chanute wrote a book about human flight. Two brothers, Wilbur and Orville Wright, read the book.

The Wright brothers were great thinkers. First, they did tests with balloons and kites to learn about wind. Then they worked on an engine. After five years of study, they used all their knowledge to make their “Flyer.” On December 17, 1903, the Wright brothers tested their flying machine. It worked! Orville Wright flew 120 feet in twelve seconds. Humans had learned to fly at last!

The Wright brothers' first “Flyer.”

How Rockets Move

A rocket has fuel in it. For the rocket to move, the fuel must burn. When the fuel burns, it makes gas. This gas goes out the back of the rocket. The gas moves very fast. Its speed gives it force. But the force of the gas follows a law of nature. The law is this: Every action has an opposite reaction. This means that the force of the gas must have a reaction. When the gas moves backward, the reaction force moves the rocket forward.

Answer the questions about the text.

1. Expository text tells facts about a topic. What is the topic of this text?

2. Name the text feature.

3. When a rocket moves, what has to happen first?

4. What law does the gas in a rocket follow?

Multiple-meaning words have more than one meaning. When you come across a multiple-meaning word, find other words in the passage or sentence to help you figure out the correct meaning of the word. Look at this example:

Humans have always wanted to fly.

Fly can mean “a winged insect” or “to move through the air.” In the sentence above, fly refers to something humans have tried to do. This tells you that the meaning of fly is “to move through the air.”

Read each passage below. Use other words in the passage to help you figure out the correct meaning of each multiple-meaning word in bold. Then circle the letter of the correct meaning of the word in bold.

1. The first big step for human flight was the kite. Some kites were used for fun. Others were used to test the weather.
 - a. to lift the foot and set it down again
 - b. one of a series of actions

2. The first hot air balloon was a silk bag. It was filled with smoke. This made the balloon lighter than the air. Because of this, the bag rose into the sky.
 - a. lifted up
 - b. a flower

3. Some people made gliders better. George Cayley added a tail. It made the glider more stable and easier to fly.
 - a. the part at the end of a plane
 - b. to follow or observe

Homophones are words that sound alike but are spelled differently and have different meanings.

I blew the horn.

My coat is blue.

A. Read each sentence. Circle the correct homophone to complete the sentence. The first one has been done for you.

1. I want to (see, sea) that movie.
2. Her (too, two) friends will come with us.
3. Did you find (your, you're) baseball glove?
4. The captain raised the (sale, sail) on the boat.
5. I (rode, road) my bike to the soccer field.

When a vowel is followed by the letter r, the r changes the vowel's sound. The vowel and the letter r usually appear in the same syllable.

person = peru / son

report = re / pout

B. Read each pair of words. Circle the word that has an r-controlled vowel syllable. The first one has been done for you.

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s opinion. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that supports his or her opinion about how the author used cause and effect as the text structure.

Topic sentence	→	In History of Human Flight , I think the author uses cause and effect to clearly explain how modern flight came about.
Evidence	→	The cause for flight was the desire of humans to fly like a bird. The author then gives several examples of people over a long period of time designing ways to get up into the air.
Concluding statement	→	I think the author summarizes the history of flight by explaining the cause, the desire to fly, and then supporting the result, the ability to fly, with facts and details.

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Show how the author used cause and effect text structure. Cite evidence from the text. Remember to describe the connection between sentences and paragraphs in a text that relate to cause and effect, and to correctly use compound and complex sentences.

Otomo Otomo Spins Gold

8 It is not easy to be a Japanese
15 sprite. You can also call me a
21 tiny creature, or a fairy. People
28 think we are not very nice. But 35 that is not true. Listen to my 41 story and then you can decide
43 for yourself.

43 I was walking, looking at
48 the scenery, when I heard
53 a young girl crying. It is an 60 unmistakable sound. She told
64 me her problem. Every night, she needed to spin a bale of hay
77 into a thread of gold. If she could not, her husband, a rich king, 91 would punish her.

94 Changing straw into gold is my specialty, so we made a deal.
106 I would spin gold for her if she could guess my name. (It is 120 Otomo Otomo.) If she could not guess, then she would come to 132 live with me and the other sprites. We agreed and shook hands.
144 Then I returned to my house with the straw.

153 The next night, I brought her the gold. She was overjoyed. But,
165 she was unable to guess my name.

Name _____

The same thing happened the next three nights. I took her straw home, sang spinning songs, and made her gold. Each night, when I returned with the gold, she made uninformed guesses at my name. It was difficult to hear her horrible guesses.

On the last night, she looked better. I gave her the gold and asked, “What is my name?” She looked less defeated, and almost relieved. I started to feel nervous. Her first two guesses were wrong: Roy and Yoshida. My tiny heart jumped for joy. I thought she would certainly come home with me. But then she smiled and said, “Otomo Otomo. That is your name.”

I was surprised. I asked her how she learned my name. She told me that her husband heard me singing my songs at night. My name is in all my spinning songs. So, I went home without her.

What do you think of my story? You see that I am not cruel or mean. We made a deal and it ended badly for me. I will help someone else, though, for a price. Do you need anything?

The Dragon in the Apple Orchard

An old man lived near an apple orchard. Many apples grew there. The old man would pick apples and eat them. He never worried about his next meal. He had become lazy. Then the apples were ripe. “I will wait,” he thought. “I will pick them when I need them.”

One day the old man woke up and saw something terrible. A dragon was eating the apples! The old man was afraid. “If the dragon eats all of the apples, I will have nothing to eat!” he thought.

But soon the dragon fell asleep. The old man thought, “The dragon is asleep! I should go and get the apples that I need.” So he went to the orchard and quietly picked his apples. Then he quickly went back home. On the way home, he thought, “I’m not the only one who wants these apples! I should pick them right away next year.”

The Jar Garden

11 Three weeks ago, Jesse moved from the country to the city.
 12 She and her new friend Hank walked to school together. They 13 passed an old, run-down garden. Jesse could not bear it.

14 She said, “Yuck, there is garbage all over the garden.”

15 Hank said, “We tried to make 16 the garden pretty, but soon it was 17 filled with garbage again. We had 18 to desert it.”

19 Hank led Jesse into the garden.
 20 Crushed plants and an old watering
 21 can lay on the ground. A tear came 22 to Jesse’s eye.

23 Jesse said, “I miss the fields and 24 gardens in the country.”

25 Hank felt bad for Jesse. They 26 agreed to clean up the garden.

27 The next day, Hank was already at the garden when Jesse
 28 arrived. He was cleaning and had collected a pile of jars.

29 Hank said, “We can use these old jars to start a new garden.
 30 This way no one can step on and crush the plants.”

31 Jesse agreed. They picked up trash and gathered the remaining
 32 jars. Later, Hank’s friends came and saw what they were doing.
 33 Hank introduced them to Jesse.

Name _____

“Nice to meet you,” Jesse said shyly, and continued working. Hank’s friends wanted to help so they filled jars with soil. Then they added seeds. They lined up the jars in a row and watered them. The garden was important to them too.

Everyone agreed to meet at the garden every day. Hank said proudly, “We will keep it clean this time.” They all went home tired.

Jesse’s new friends made her feel welcome. She did not miss the country so much anymore. She wanted to thank them.

The next Monday they all walked to school together. As they passed the garden, they noticed something different. Jesse had rearranged the jars to spell out the word Welcome.

Hank said, “What a wonderful way to enter the garden!”

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. A character often has a point of view, or an opinion, about events or other characters in a story. What is Jesse’s point of view in paragraph 2? Circle the letter of the best answer.
 - a. Jesse likes the garden as it is.
 - b. Jesse doesn’t like the garden the way it is.
 - c. Jesse doesn’t care either way.

2. What is Hank’s point of view in paragraphs 6 and 7? Circle the letter of the best answer.
 - a. Hank doesn’t agree with Jesse and likes the garden as it is.
 - b. Hank feels bad for Jesse but doesn’t want to help fix the garden.
 - c. Hank feels bad for Jesse and goes early to start fixing the garden.

3. What are Hank’s and Jesse’s points of view at the end of the passage? Circle the letter of the best answer.
 - a. Hank and Jesse are upset about what they did with the garden.
 - b. Hank and Jesse are proud and thankful.
 - c. Hank is happy about it, but Jesse is upset.

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to phrasing. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

Homographs are words that are spelled the same but have different meanings. Use context clues to help figure out the meaning of a homograph.

For example, the word can means to be able to. It also means a type of container for holding something. Look at the sentence below.

Crushed plants and an old watering can lay on the ground.

In this case, the underlined context clues help you to understand that can means “a type of container for holding something.”

Read the sentences below. Use the underlined context clues to help you understand the meaning of the homographs in bold. Circle the letter of the correct definition of each homograph.

1. They passed an old, run-down garden. Jesse could not bear it.
 - a. a big, heavy animal with thick fur and a short tail
 - b. manage to accept

2. We tried to make the garden pretty, but soon it was filled with garbage again. We had to desert it.
 - a. a dry area with sand and little water
 - b. leave a place, making it appear empty

3. Hank’s friends came and saw what they were doing.
 - a. took in with the eyes
 - b. a tool for cutting wood

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s viewpoint. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that supports a perspective about how the author expresses point of view.

Topic sentence	→	In “The Jar Garden,” I think the author used point of view to show how a problem affects a specific character in the story. By using third-person point of view, the author explains that Jesse is upset and misses her home in the country. Jesse is used to wide open spaces, and she does not like seeing the garden messy. By using this point of view, the author helped me to better understand how Jesse is feeling about the garden.
Evidence	→
Concluding statement	→

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Share your viewpoint about how the author expresses point of view. Cite evidence from the text. Remember to state a viewpoint and to support it with reasons. Use subject and object pronouns correctly.

Write a topic sentence: _____

True Teamwork

4 Strong storms, floods, and 10 disasters can surprise us. It is 16 hard to predict, or know, about 22 them before they happen. Still, we
28 can be prepared. In an emergency,
37 it is best to work as a team. When 44 people work in a group they can
47 help more people.

47 On August 29, 2005, Hurricane 52 Katrina struck Louisiana. It was
57 one of the worst storms in 100
64 years. Wind, rain, and floods damaged much of the Gulf Coast.
75 Some people lost their homes, clothes, cars, and more. It was 86 very hard for them.

90 The victims, or people hurt by the storm, needed help.
100 Emergency teams gave relief, or help, to them. Teams helped 110 victims find food and shelter. They gave them water and found
121 doctors for people who needed them. The teams helped a lot.

132 It is good that there are teams to help after a storm. But,
145 you and your neighbors can be a team, too. Talk to your 157 neighbors. Work as a group so you are prepared for an 168 emergency.

Name _____

It is encouraging to be part of a team. It gives you hope. It is a lot of work to prepare for an emergency alone. It is easy, though, when you have a team.

All of you can work toward the same goal. It can make you feel better to know you are prepared and have a team.

One way to get ready is to build a “Go Kit.” Do you know what this is? It is a kit that has essential or necessary things that will help you stay alive. It can have food, water, and flashlights in it. Work as a team to help all your neighbors make Go Kits. Then, if you forget something, a neighbor can share theirs with you.

No one knows when a bad storm or flood might take place. You may never need to use your Go Kit. Yet knowing that you and your neighbors are a team makes all of you feel better. You can feel more secure knowing that you are not alone.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. Look at the first paragraph. What does the author think about people working as a team? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. The author thinks it is not helpful to work as a team.
- b. The author thinks groups help fewer people.
- c. The author thinks that it is best to work as a team.

2. In paragraph six, how does the author think neighbors can help?

3. In the last paragraph what does the author think can make you feel more secure in an emergency? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. Having neighbors can make you feel safer.
- b. Being a team with your neighbors can make you feel more secure.
- c. Not having a Go Kit is the best solution.

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to phrasing and rate. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

Hiram Revels – The First African American Senator

Hiram Revels was born in the state of North Carolina in the year 1827. He was a great citizen, or member of his country. He was highly respected. Many people liked him. He became the first African American to serve in the Senate.

43 A Hard Time for African Americans

49 It was a hard time for African
56 Americans. They were treated
60 badly. In the South, most were 66 enslaved. But Revels grew up as a 73 free person, or freedman. He could
79 make his own choices.

83 Still, the laws in the South were 90 unfair. African Americans had to
95 work hard jobs. They could not go
102 to school. It was not legal, but Revels
110 did go to school. He was unable to go
119 to college in the South, though. He had to leave home.

Southern States During the Slavery Era.

130 Preaching and Teaching

133 After school, Revels became the pastor of a church. He was 144 a great teacher. He went all over the place. He taught other 156 African Americans. He wanted them to be good members of this 167 country, too.

Name _____

The First African American Senator

Later in his life, Revels moved back to the South. By this time, slavery had ended. Many people voted for Revels as a state senator. He then joined the U.S. Senate. He was the first African American to be a U.S. senator.

This was amazing!

In the Senate, Revels tried to be fair to all people. He disliked rules that were not fair. So he tried to change them. He made it so people of all colors could work in the Navy. He worked to make laws that were fair to all people.

Revels helped many people. As a pastor, he helped people learn. As a senator, he helped the country progress, or change for the better. He was truly a good citizen!

The Electric Car

11 We charge our phones. We charge our computers. But have you
 24 ever seen a person charge his or her car? Some cars use electricity
 38 to run instead of gas. An electric car uses a battery. It is plugged in to recharge. Would you buy an electric-powered car?

47 History

48 In the 1890s, many people used
 54 electric cars. They were easy to 60 drive. They were great in cities.
 66 The cars drove smoothly. They 71 made little noise. They did not 77 smell like gas cars.

81 Then, in 1908, Henry Ford made the Model T. It was 92 gas-powered. It ran better than the old gas cars. Many were 103 made. And they were cheap. People could buy them. People
 113 stopped using the electric car.

A woman charges her electric car.

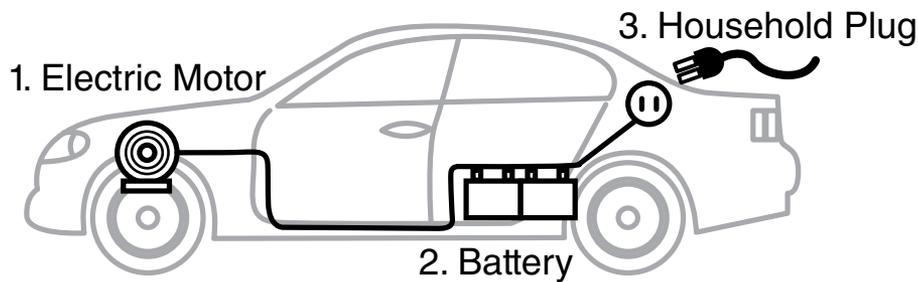

Nancy Honey/Cultura/Getty Images

Name _____

Benefits

Today, more people are driving electric cars. They are good for the planet. They do not pollute the air. They are easy to care for. There are fewer parts to their engines. This often means fewer problems.

These cars do not need oil changes or trips to the gas station. Unlike gas, we do not need to buy electricity from other countries.

The Main Parts of the Electric Car*Problems

There are a few problems with the electric-powered car. There are only a few places to recharge these cars. A full charge can take a few hours. Most electric cars do not go very far on just one charge. A car can go farther on a full tank of gas.

The batteries may also need to be changed or replaced. They are also big and heavy. They cost a lot of money.

Future

The electric car has a long history. Today, electric cars are working better. We will soon see more of these cars on the road!

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. A cause is why something happens. In paragraph 2, what was a possible cause of people driving electric cars in cities? Circle the letter of your answer.
 - a. Electric cars were used by many people in the 1890s.
 - b. Electric cars were easy to drive.
 - c. People liked the smell of gas-powered cars.

2. An effect is what happens. In paragraph 3, what was the effect of the Model T? Circle the letter of your answer.
 - a. Electric cars became more popular.
 - b. Gas-powered cars became less popular.
 - c. Electric cars became less popular.

3. Under the heading Benefits, what is a possible cause of a person choosing an electric car over a gas-powered car? Circle the letter of your answer.
 - a. Electric cars do not pollute the air.
 - b. Electric car batteries cost a lot of money to replace.
 - c. Electric cars are hard to care for.

Energy from Recycled Plastic

We recycle plastic. When we recycle it, we use it for something else. But the plastic cannot be recycled forever. At some point it becomes useless. The plastic must be thrown away. However, scientists have made a discovery. If we burn the useless plastic, we can create energy. Scientists want to find ways to put this discovery into practice. They need to build power plants that can burn these plastics. Then the useless plastic can become useful again.

The Search for New Energy

It is very important to find new sources of energy. We are able to get energy from the wind, the sun, and water. Now we can get energy from plastic, too. We should work to build power plants that burn recycled plastic for energy. But we should also keep looking for new sources of energy.

Homophones are words that sound the same but have different meanings and different spellings.

For example, the word rain means “water that falls in drops from clouds.” The word reign sounds the same but is spelled differently. It means “a period in which a person or thing is dominant.” Look at the sentence below.

The introduction of the Model T helped to end the reign of the electric car.

In this case, the underlined context clues help you to understand that reign means “a period in which a person or thing is dominant.”

Read each sentence below. The underlined context clues help you understand the meaning of each homophone in bold. Circle the letter of the correct definition of the homophone.

1. Have you ever seen a person charge his or her car?
 - a. plugged in
 - b. looked at with one’s eyes
 - c. the place where something happens

2. In the 1890s, many people used electric cars.
 - a. a small hotel
 - b. a decade
 - c. while or during

3. Most electric cars do not go very far on just one charge.
 - a. a single thing or unit
 - b. something difficult
 - c. to do better than any other in a race or contest

Prometheus Brings Fire to Humans

Cast:

1 Narrator | Prometheus | Zeus | Human 1 | Human 2

8 Scene 1

10 Setting: Mount Olympus, home
 14 of the ancient Greek gods. Zeus
 20 sits on a throne. There is a fire
 28 roaring. Prometheus enters.

31 Zeus: Prometheus! Welcome!
 34 I trust everything is good.

39 Prometheus: I am afraid not,
 44 Lord Zeus. People on Earth are 50 miserable. They live in caves and
 56 eat raw meat. They die of cold
 63 and starvation in the winter. Would you share fire with them?

74 Zeus: Absolutely not! With fire, they might become like 83 the gods. They could force us from our kingdom. It is better
 95 if humans are cold and uninformed. That way the gods are 106 unthreatened.

107 Prometheus: (under his breath) But I am not a god. If you will 120 not help them, I will! (he exits)

Name _____

Scene 2

Narrator: (Voice over) Prometheus wanted to help the humans. He traveled to a far away place to find the morning sun. He took some of the fire that lights the sun. Then he quickly went back to share it with the humans he knew.

Setting: Prometheus is standing outside of the humans' cave. He speaks to a few people wearing furs.

Prometheus: Look! (he points to a fire on the ground) I have brought you fire, the secret to empowerment! This will change your lives! You can cook meat with fire. It will keep you warm and help you see the world. When you are warm and well fed, it is much easier to do anything you want! I only ask that you also help those less fortunate than you.

Narrator: The humans agreed to what Prometheus wanted of them. They knew it was important to him that they lead better lives. So, they began the slow process of bringing about a world in which they could live in happiness without suffering.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.1. What problems does Prometheus see with human life?

2. What does Prometheus ask Zeus to do?

3. According to Prometheus, what can humans do with fire?

4. What is the theme of this story? Circle the letter of your answer.

- a. It is good to help those who are less fortunate.
- b. It is best not to challenge authority.
- c. Great suffering eventually leads to happiness.

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to expression. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

Scene 3: The Fall of Icarus

An evil king had locked Daedalus and his son, Icarus, in his castle. Daedalus made wings out of feathers and wax. Daedalus and Icarus used the wings to escape from the king's island. Now they are flying above the sea. Icarus flies a little higher than Daedalus.

DAEDALUS: Fly close to me, Icarus. We need to be careful and get home safely.

ICARUS: But I want to use the wings, Father! I want to see the sun up close!

DAEDALUS: If you fly too high, the sun will melt the wax in your wings!

ICARUS: Don't worry, I'll be careful. I'll fly lower if the wax melts.

DAEDALUS: You'll fall if the wax melts! Come down now!

ICARUS: Flying higher. I can see every island in the sea! His wings start to melt.

DAEDALUS: Shouting. Icarus! You're going to fall!

Answer the questions about the text.

1. A drama is a play. It is written so that readers can perform it. Which words tell who is saying a line?

2. Which words tell how to read the words and what to do?

3. Why is Daedalus worried about Icarus?

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s ideas. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that shows how the author structured the text.

Topic sentence	→	In “Prometheus Brings Fire to Humans,” the author uses a problem-and-solution text structure to share a lesson.
Evidence	→	Zeus does not want to empower humans by giving them fire. Prometheus believes humans need fire for food and warmth and to explore the world. Prometheus gives fire to humans with the request that they help others in return.
Concluding statement	→	By describing the humans’ problem and Prometheus’s solution, the author shares a lesson, or moral, about being compassionate and helping others.

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Show how the author structured the text. Cite evidence from the text. Support your explanation with details and use adjectives and articles correctly.

Write a topic sentence: _____

Too Warm for Wheat

15 I live on a farm in the Middle Colonies. I was born here. It is 27 all I have ever known. My parents and two sisters came here
 40 from England. When I ask, Father tells me how we came to live here. Strangely enough, the weather is a big part of the story.

52 My father likes adventure. Mother says that if he does
 62 not explore, Father does not know what to do with his time!

74 So when my Uncle Charles moved
 80 to New England, Father was ready
 86 for a new life, too.

91 At first, my family lived with
 97 Uncle Charles. He caught fish
 102 where he lived in New England.
 108 People could trade the fish for
 114 other food. It was too cold to farm.
 122 It was difficult to grow crops in the 130 rocky, snow-covered ground.

Name _____

Father tried his hand at fishing but he did not have much success. He just did not like being on the boat! He did not have sea legs. That is why he chose to be a farmer. He had heard that the Middle Colonies had good soil and weather for farms.

So, after sleeping on it and giving it a lot of thought, my parents bought a farm in the Middle Colonies. The weather was milder so crops could grow here. It had a warmer climate than New England. In fact, the Middle Colonies are called the Bread Basket because of all the grains grown here. Here, we farmed and grew grains for the next three years. We could not have done this without the warmer weather. My family had found the life they wanted.

The farm did quite well. My mother even opened a bakery in town. Not long after that, I was born. I help on the farm and in the bakery. The weather had an effect on where my family picked to live. We could not have had the same life in the north. My family found adventure, a new home, and a way of life. Our life is the best life I can think of—it takes the cake! I know my parents made the right choice.

Name _____

A. Reread the passage and answer the questions.

1. In paragraph 1, what does the narrator say helped the family decide where to live? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. The weather helped them decide where to live.
- b. The family has always lived on a farm.
- c. They wanted to start a new life.

2. Why are there so many fishermen in New England? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. Fishermen can trade fish for food.
- b. Fishing in cold weather is fun.
- c. It is too difficult to be a farmer in New England.

3. What is the theme of this story? Circle the letter of the best answer.

- a. Finding what you like is important.
- b. Fishing is better than farming.
- c. Starting a new life is too hard.

B. Work with a partner. Read the passage aloud. Pay attention to phrasing. Stop after one minute. Fill out the chart.

69 The cause is still unclear. Plant
75 sprays may have a role in making
82 the bees sick. New unknown
87 germs, tiny living things that cause
93 disease, might harm bees. A lack of food and water stresses bees.
105 Crowded hives with too many bees also cause problems.

114 Why We Need Bees

118 Bees play an important part in growing new plants. They carry 129 a substance called pollen to parts of a flower, or from flower to 142 flower. This helps the plants make fruits and seeds. The seeds
153 can grow into new plants.

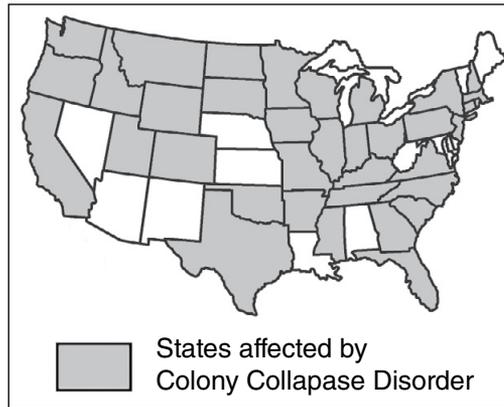

Name _____

This same process, or string of actions, helps crops grow. Apples, carrots, and many other foods require bees to grow. Fewer bees mean fewer crops for people to eat.

Think of bees the next time you go buy food at a store. Without bees, farmers would have less food to sell to the stores. Buyers would have fewer crops to buy. They might cost more.

Bees make honey, too. Honeybees take a sweet fluid from plants called nectar. They use this liquid to make honey in their hives. People have gathered honey for many years. People use it to cook or eat it on bread. Honey can become scarce without the bees. That means it will be hard to find.

You can help the bees in your garden, though! Do not put chemicals on your plants that would harm the bees. Grow plants that you know bees will like. You will be happy you did.

The map shows states affected by CCD, as reported in 2010 by the Congressional Research Service. The problem continues to worsen.

Why Are Mosquitoes Important?

Most people don't like mosquitoes. Their itchy bites are very annoying. But mosquitoes are important insects. Lots of other animals need them for food. For example, dragonflies eat mosquitoes. Without mosquitoes, dragonflies could not eat. And if there were not enough dragonflies, frogs and birds would not have enough food. Humans might not like mosquitoes. But other animals need them.

Dragonflies need mosquitoes, frogs need dragonflies, and birds need frogs.

Answer the questions about the text.

1. Expository text tells about a science topic. What is the topic of this expository text?

2. What text feature is included?

3. Look at the diagram. What animal eats frogs?

4. Why are mosquitoes important?

Evidence is details and examples from a text that support a writer’s ideas. The student who wrote the paragraph below cited evidence that shows how the author used a compare and contrast text structure.

Topic sentence	→	In “The Disappearance of Bees,” the author uses a compare and contrast text structure to show the impact of disappearing bees.
Evidence	→	The author explains that there used to be many bee colonies in the country, but nearly one third have vanished. Along with the colonies, crops that were once plentiful have begun disappearing because bees are not pollinating them. There is also less honey than there used to be.
Concluding statement	→	The author uses compare and contrast to explain how the disappearance of bees is affecting everyone.

Write a paragraph about the text you have chosen. Show how the author used text structure. Cite evidence from the text. Remember to support your explanation with details and to use adverbs that compare correctly.

Write a topic sentence: _____

Cite evidence from the text: _____

End with a concluding statement: _____

Name _____

A. Read the draft model. Use the questions that follow the draft to help you think about how you can add a strong conclusion that retells the main idea.

Draft Model

I did not like pigs. I thought that pigs were dirty. I didn't think they were smart. Then I learned pigs are some of the smartest animals on the planet. Pigs can even be kept as pets.

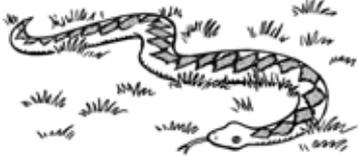

1. What is the main idea?
2. What did the narrator learn about pigs being dirty?
3. What did the narrator learn about pigs being smart?
4. What conclusion could be added to retell the main idea?

B. Now revise the draft by adding a strong conclusion that retells the main idea.

Read the poem. Check your understanding by asking yourself how the narrator thinks or feels.

Aliens!

7 While waiting in the car for Mom,
 12 Dad says, sounding very profound,
 20 “I’m afraid I have to drop a bomb:
 there are aliens around.

24 We didn’t want to tell you boys,
 31 we thought it might just freak you out.
 39 I need you to stay calm and keep your poise
 49 while I tell you what this is about.

57 We taught you not to fear the new.
 65 We told you that the world was strange,
 73 but what we didn’t say to you
 80 is that we are one end of the range
 89 of things that folks don’t understand.
 95 If others knew, they’d make a fuss.
 102 And though our lives are pretty bland,
 109 the fact is that the aliens are us!”

117 Mom opened her door and got inside.
 124 I was shocked as we flew into the sky.
 133 But Mom was clever enough to say,
 140 “Did something go down while I was away?”
